PEOPLE WHO WANT TO GO FURTHER.

BMW SPORTS COLLECTIONS

WHAT'S YOUR DRIVE?

What do a big wave surfer and a stuntwoman have in common? They are courageous, they enter extreme situations and pursue their goals with an energy that is impossible to describe. But how do they prepare themselves, how do they train, and, especially, where does their passion come from, a passion that drives them and helps them perform incredible feats? We met with four such people and received answers that inspire. Just like the new BMW Sports Collections. Like our interviewees, they radiate pure passion: for functionality, design and innovation.

06 BMW ATHLETICS COLLECTION "HAVING A VISION. AND LIVING IT."

Chris Bertish, big wave surfer and stand-up paddle boarder

The man and the sea: Chris Bertish, big-wave surfer and stand-up paddle boarder, is an expert in motivating himself and others to pursue the extraordinary.

20 BMW MOTORSPORT COLLECTION "HOPING FOR A WIN."

Thomas Rottenfußer, DTM mechanic

As a mechanic at the German Touring Car Masters (DTM), Thomas Rottenfußer is quite a big wheel. It's team players like him who keep things rolling.

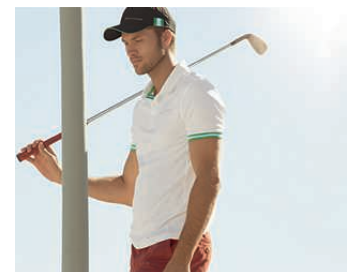

38 BMW GOLFSPORT COLLECTION

"REWRITING THE RULES."

Neil Matthews, urban golfer

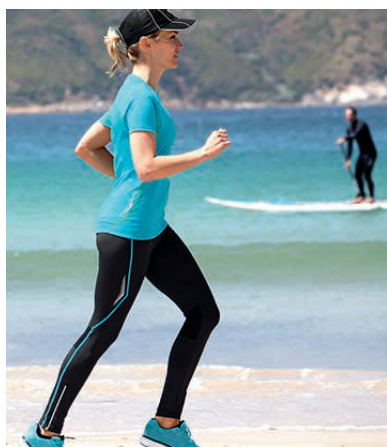

Neil Matthews lives for sports: as a professional sports manager, he analyses the results of all the football and rugby teams in South Africa. In his private time, he is a passionate urban golfer.

52 BMW FUNCTIONAL LUGGAGE "DEFYING GRAVITY."

Duy Panovic, tricking athlete, stuntwoman and model

Dynamic performance at its best: Duy Panovic's stunts are an expression of absolute freedom of movement.

An aerial photograph of a man and a woman running on a paved road. The woman is on the left, wearing a light blue t-shirt and black leggings. The man is on the right, wearing a blue long-sleeved jacket and black shorts. Both are wearing blue sneakers. Their shadows are cast long and dark on the road surface. The road has yellow and white lane markings. In the background, there are concrete steps and some greenery. The text "BMW ATHLETICS COLLECTION." is overlaid on the left side of the image.

WHAT'S YOUR DRIVE?

"HAVING A VISION. AND LIVING IT."

The water is turquoise blue and crystal clear. And the waves are up to 18 metres high. Chris Bertish has braved such big waves more than once, and covered unbelievable distances with his stand-up paddle board. He is the quintessential "water man". The sea, to him, is more than an environment to test his limits in. It is his playground, his place of refuge, and, especially, his best teacher. Chris is known for pursuing ambitious, some would even say crazy, goals: to go after them with incredible focus – and to reach them eventually.

"DREAM IT, SEE IT, BELIEVE IT, ACHIEVE IT. NOTHING IS IMPOSSIBLE UNLESS YOU BELIEVE IT TO BE."

Chris uses this credo not just to inspire himself. He travels the world as a motivational speaker in the employ of companies and organisations, encouraging others to live their dreams.

His current goal is to cross the Atlantic on a board. From Morocco via the Canary Islands and the Caribbean all the way to Miami.

All to support the Lunchbox Fund, a foundation dedicated to providing meals to disadvantaged children in South Africa. To make this ambitious aim come true, Chris works out six times a week in various disciplines including underwater training, windsurfing and swimming as well as running and gym work. This versatile workout regime is very effective and prepares him for all eventualities.

"IF YOU DON'T PREPARE, YOU ARE PREPARING TO LOSE."

The more you invest, the higher the return. Mental preparation is as important as classic workout disciplines. And then there is the equipment. Chris particularly likes the sunglasses from the BMW Athletics Collection, given that even one second in the water without perfect vision can amount to the difference between success and failure. Every moment counts, in life as in sports. This attitude helps Chris make time for his adventures, over and over again. And then there is the will to succeed.

Chris Bertish, big-wave surfer and stand-up paddle boarder, is an expert in motivating himself and others to pursue the extraordinary.

WHAT'S YOUR DRIVE?

“HOPING FOR A WIN.”

Hockenheim, Moscow, Zandvoort, Budapest, Valencia – at age 22, Thomas Rottenfuß is already seen more of the world than a diplomat's child. He is living the dream of many a car mechanic with a love for motor racing.

“THE NÜRBURGRING, TO ME, IS AN ICON. JUST LIKE BMW.”

Ending up with BMW was no coincidence for Thomas. His father worked for the company and always drove a BMW. You could call it an early childhood influence. Or simply a genetic predisposition for dynamic driving.

His passion is part of the reason why the drivers competing for his employer, Team MTEK, regularly end up on the winners' platform. These drivers put 100 per cent trust in him. This is why he has to maintain constant focus and remain in contact with his drivers at all times. “I find out pretty quickly whether I've done a good job or not.”

“EVERYBODY MAKES THE ODD MISTAKE? THAT IS THE WRONG ATTITUDE.”

Nowhere else does the importance of his work become more apparent than during fast pit stops, which, to him, are the embodiment of perfect team work. Every member plays a crucial role and works on a dedicated part of the car – in Thomas' case, the electrical system. You have to know exactly what your partners are doing, because every second counts. Maybe this is why the Ice Watches are his favourites from the BMW Motorsport Collection. The key to success? For Thomas Rottenfuß, the answer is obvious: everybody on the team doing their job to perfection.

Thomas Rottenfuß is a mechanic at the German Touring Car Masters (DTM). Without team members like him, wheels would literally stop turning.

A lifestyle photograph featuring three individuals walking on a golf course during the golden hour of sunset. On the left, a man with a beard and short dark hair, wearing a light blue polo shirt and tan trousers, carries a golf bag over his shoulder and smiles at the camera. In the center, a man with short brown hair, wearing a white polo shirt and maroon shorts, carries a golf bag and looks off to the side. On the right, a woman with curly hair, wearing a light blue polo shirt and white trousers, walks towards the camera. The background shows a golf course with a clubhouse and trees under a warm, hazy sky. The text 'BMW GOLFSPO

WHAT'S YOUR DRIVE?

“REWRITING THE RULES.”

Neil Matthews lives for sports: as a professional sports manager, he analyses the results of all the football and rugby teams in South Africa. In his private time, he is a passionate urban golfer.

Neil Matthews was seven years old when his father first took him to a Cape Town golf course. Since then he has travelled the world extensively, with stints in well-known cities such as New York and London. This is where the South African first became aware of urban golf. Golf clubs were simply too far away to enjoy a few tee-offs after work. Urban golfers took to the roofs instead.

Born out of a lack of time, this variant of the sport quickly became a passion. What Matthews liked most was making a sport that is often perceived as elitist accessible for everyone. Thus, he ended up taking his golf clubs to all sorts of unusual venues – from abandoned industrial areas to a platform in the middle of a lake.

“PICK AN UNUSUAL LOCATION. THEN IMAGINE IT WERE A GOLF COURSE.”

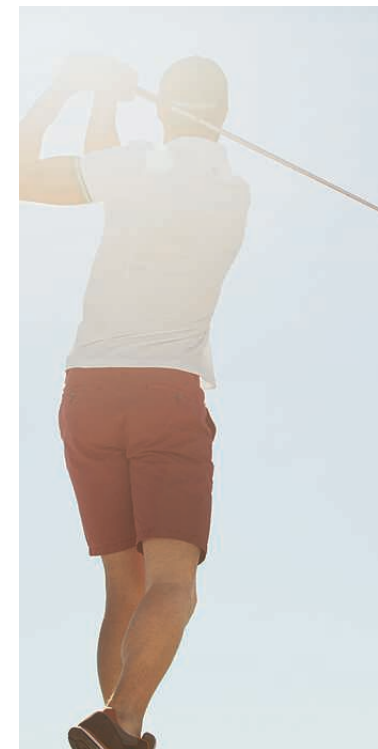

Another point that makes him appreciate urban golf is its lack of strict etiquette. And that participants can wear what they like. Matthews prefers the polo shirt from the BMW Golfsport Collection. It looks just as great when worn on the latest urban golfing venue as it does at a family dinner.

And on those rare occasions when Matthews is not holding a golf club, such as during a business trip, he keeps fit the old-fashioned way: 100 press-ups, 100 sit-ups and 100 straight jumps.

“WHEN PEOPLE HEAR THE EXPRESSION ‘TEE TIME’, THEY DON’T THINK OF GOLF. NOT YET.”

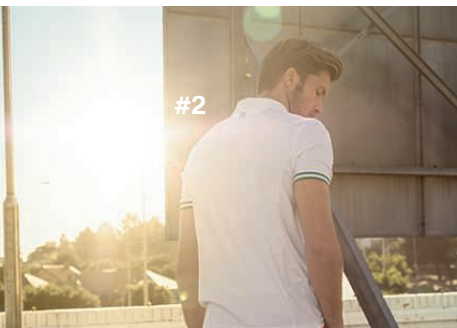

And as soon as he is back to holding a club in his hands, he’ll do 100 tee-offs. From the roof of a house, on the seashore and soon – probably – once again from the middle of a lake.

5 THINGS YOU WILL NEED.

- 1 A golf club. Or two.
- 2 A ball. Preferably small and made of foam.
- 3 A bag for snacks, balls, a torch, etc.
- 4 A place to play! Think public park, roads, etc.
- 5 A group of fellow enthusiasts who are as crazy as you are.

“DEFYING GRAVITY.”

Dynamic performance at its best: Duy Panovic's stunts are an expression of absolute freedom of movement.

Duy Panovic hits, kicks and jumps. She attacks, blocks and rolls across the floor. And proceeds to do an aerial cartwheel. Duy is not just a model and stuntwoman, she is also a tricking acrobat for film productions. It has enabled her to turn her dream into a profession. Duy's tricking choreographies are impressive. They are a physically extremely
